Credit unions are not-for-profit cooperatives organized to provide members with low cost financial services. Eighty million Americans currently save and borrow through their memberships in America's over 7,500 credit unions.

Credit unions are not open to the public. Instead, credit unions are comprised of persons sharing a common bond. MAMTA was chartered by the U.S. government over 75 years ago to serve the employees (and their immediate families) of the Mamaroneck and Rye Neck School Districts.
